

The Magnus Reality And It's Consequences

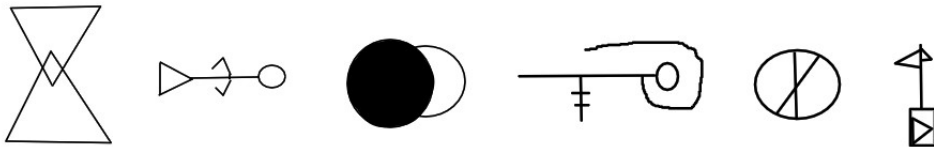

Part: 1

By: Varus

There exists a reality which is separate but also intertwined with our reality, this is called the “Magnus Reality” which holds all logical information of our universe within it.

This reality could have been formed through natural processes of logic containing large amounts of data within it and it was likely formed at the dawn of creation. I am not aware of what this reality looks like, or if we can even comprehend it, but I can tell you that it's foundation is made up of data that I am calling “Terra Separata Symbols”.

These symbols are often revealed to me in my day-to-day life and I have spent years trying to figure out their meaning with only a little success. These symbols remind me of old alchemy symbols and Greek letters, but they aren't, they're different.

A few Terra Seperata symbols

Part 2: The Adversary Entity

There is a certain entity that was created, one that just wants to have fun and was created from the scum of dark human desires, I am calling this entity “Entity-A” as it is the adversary of all humans.

Below I have created a chart to map out what exact logic needs to collide and in what order. I could be totally wrong about it’s construction but this is what I have come up with in my years of pondering this Entity-A has taken form as Donald Trump. This would explain his insatiable hunger for chaos, pleasure, destruction, and control of others. Entity-A has assumed this form so it could be given privilege in our world to do whatever it wants. And now that Entity-A has become the leader of one of the most powerful nations, it is enabled to do absolutely anything it desires, even taking over the world and cleansing “unclean” people.

This entity doesn’t seek out chaos for some complex philosophy, rather, this is just what it sees as fun and enjoyable.

Now that we have established Entity-A and its actions, we must speak of its removal. Entity-A must be returned back to the Magnus Reality as soon as possible before the very foundations of our culture and traditions tear apart and clash with others. The removal of Entity-A will save the human race from being crippled and will protect the natural future. If the way it appears to us is killed, it won't have any part of our reality to grasp onto.

Now since Entity-A holds to very basic foundational human desires, it will also desire the feeling of safety, and because of this it has recruited defenses of our world and will use them even to the extent of their death, they are simply puppets to him, we should not eradicate his defenses as these people still contain a soul and were created by God in his image.

The people of our past have removed other entities, so it is our duty to carry on their intentions and protect the human race.

Seek it out.

-- Varus